Public anal insertion

SUMMARY An anal slot is a small crack or tear in the subtle and damp lining of the lower right. It is a common condition. Sometimes people confuse anal cracks with hemorrhoids. The most common symptom of an anal slot is a shooting pain in the soul and in the surrounding area. Anal slots often cause painful intestinal movements and bleeding. You can also see blood on toilet paper after cleaning. Anal slots can also cause itching in the anal area. The anal cracks are usually the result of the voltage during an intestinal movement, causing injury to the anal channel. They can also be caused by repeated diarrhea, when the blood flow of the area has decreased (in the elderly), after childbirth, or in people with Crohn's disease. The doctor will perform a rectal exam. Usually, a visual examination is all that you need to see the slot. The doctor may have to insert a lubricated finger and spoiled in the anal canal. Keeping regular intestinal movements and avoiding constipation can help reduce the odds of an anal slot. Add more fruits, vegetables and integral cereals to your diet to get enough fiber. Drink a lot of liquids and get some exercise every day to help keep your digestive system on the move. About the half of all struggles healed alone and does not need treatment. If the slots do not heal alone, other treatments can involve prescription creams such as nitrates or soccer channel blockers. You could even need Botox injections in the muscle in the anus (called the anal sphincter). Minor surgery to relax the anal muscle can be used as a last resort. The doctor may prescribe stool softeners to go to the bathroom easier and less painful while the slot heals. The intrupidity cream can also make intestinal movements less painful. Petroleum jelly, zinc oxide, 1% hydrocortisone cream, and products like H preparation can help you soothe the area. Instead of toilet paper, use wipes for newborns without alcohol that are more delicate on the area. Sitz baths can help heal cracks and make you feel better. Fill the tank with enough warm water to cover your hips and buttocks. Do not use soap or bubbles or other products unless they are prescribed by the doctor. Relax in the Sitz bathroom from 2 to 3 times a day for about 10 minutes at a time. People who develop cracks once they are more likely to have them in the future, so it is important to keep regular intestinal movements. If you had a slot in the past, you could be tried to keep the intestinal movement to avoid the pain of passing it. But this is not a good idea. This can make stools become difficult and difficult to pass, which will get the slot worse. Continue with a high fiber diet and drink a lot of liquid to help you make stools easy to pass. How can I add more fiber to my diet? Should I use fiber supplements? Should I use laxatives? What recommended products use while I have a slot?
