

Click to prove you're human

Autobiography of a student example

Updated: January 8th, 2025 You're probably thinking: I'm no Mahatma Gandhi or Steve Jobs—what could I possibly write in my memoir? I don't even know how to start an autobiography, let alone write the whole thing. Our specialists will write a custom essay specially for you! Hire an Expert But don't worry: essay writing can be easy, and this autobiography example for students is here to show you that memoir writing can be easy and even exciting. Every person, whether famous or not, is unique and has a story worth sharing. All you need to do now is scroll down the page and enjoy this amazing sample autobiography, as well as some related practical hints. An autobiography is the story of your own life. Even if you think you don't have much to include in your memoir, you can still make it quite interesting. Bill Gates claims that he always tries to find a lazy person to do a difficult job. Why? Because a lazy person will look for an easy way to do it! That's why we found a lazy but smart student to write a short autobiography example, and now we'll share the easiest ways to do it with you. Feel free to use it as an autobiography example outline. Below is a student autobiography sample with subheadings. Remember: it doesn't have to be exactly as shown in the examples. They're rather to show you the right path to be moving towards. Also, if something in your writing needs fixing, don't hesitate to use a phrase reworder. Just in 1 hour! Our expertWe will write you a plagiarism-free paper in less than 1 hour Learn More Not sure how to make an autobiography introduction? Why not start from the very beginning? Writing about your early years is the easiest and most logical start for an autobiography. I was born on a cold winter night, when even time seemed to stand still, in my native Bennington, Oklahoma. I do not remember much of my early childhood, but my mom said I was a very active, curious, and communicative child. I would ask dozens of questions each minute, even without waiting for the answers. I suppose this is why my parents offered me books and educational movies as early as my third birthday. In the next part of your autobiography essay, describe yourself in a few words. It does not necessarily need to be too creative. You can take a short learning style quiz and put the information you'll find out into your autobiography. It will be quite a unique addition. And don't forget to make a smooth transition from the previous part! Fortunately, my thirst for knowledge did not come to an end when I was at school. I was passionate about history and science. This passion helped me gain a profound knowledge of these areas, and I was admitted to the college of my dreams. Today, I am a student at a law school, and I feel very happy about it. An old saying goes, "A life with a goal is a life that is whole." Be positive and show everyone that your life is whole. I am certain that my degree will become my ticket to a better tomorrow. I want to become a renowned lawyer in the field of employment legislation. I study hard and devote my free time to reading scholarly reviews and watching interviews with recognized specialists in the field. This part aims to show that you are capable of analyzing your experiences and learning valuable lessons. Of course, I understand that life is not just a bed of roses, and challenges and hardships are an integral element of life. Since my parents could not help me cover my college expenses in full, paying off my student loan has become an important challenge for me. I combine a part-time job and full-time study to earn my living and my education. I feel triumphant at the beginning of every month when I receive my salary and plan how I will spend my money. GetReceive a plagiarism-free paper tailored to your instructions. Cut 15%off your first order! Grab the Code In this part of your autobiographical essay, you want to establish the main lesson to take away from your story. In other words, what's remarkable about the story? I have come to believe that two main factors determine success. The first is a person's determination and will to succeed. Are you ready to make sacrifices to achieve your goal, like working and studying at the same time? Are you prepared to recover after failure and proceed to your goal again? Without strong internal motivation, it is nearly impossible to become successful. Equally important is the support of people around you. Being determined to succeed does not mean alienating everyone and stepping on other people to achieve your goal. On the contrary, success is about recognizing your weaknesses and accepting support from people who genuinely want to help you. For instance, if it were not for my parents' support of my educational endeavors, I might not be attending law school today. Would you call this student an inspirational leader like Nelson Mandela or Martin Luther King, Jr.? In all honesty, no. He may be an interesting and nice person, but he hasn't left such a mark on history as some other people have—at least not yet. But can you learn something from his story? Most definitely. The autobiography example above is suitable for both college and high school students. In case you still lack the inspiration to write your memoir, you can always come to our experts, who will help you structure and write your narrative. Alternatively, you can find some more interesting examples of an autobiography at Phoenix.edu and at Southwestern College website. And in case you're still wondering how to write an autobiography, just keep reading! As a student, you might need to write a short biography for various reasons, such as when applying for a scholarship, internship, or job. If you're looking for a short autobiography example, check out the sample below. I am Aisha Patel, hailing from the city of Mumbai, India. Growing up in a culturally rich environment taught me to appreciate traditions, diversity, inclusion, and community. I have always been motivated by my parents, both accomplished physicians. I found myself drawn to the field of medicine at an early age. Since then, I devoted countless hours to volunteering, participating in healthcare camps, and working with NGOs to expand medical access in marginalized communities. I became determined to expand my horizons and receive a world-class medical education. Eventually, I set my sights on studying in the United States. I aspire to use the knowledge and skills I acquire to contribute to healthcare practices in India and globally. I plan to address pressing societal health challenges with empathy and expertise. Get a custom-written paper according to your instructions! Learn More Writing an autobiography focusing on academic interests creates a platform for self-reflection. This activity can help you understand how your academic pursuits have shaped your identity and aspirations. The following example will provide valuable insights into the content of a well-crafted autobiography. My name is Sam Davis, and I am a dedicated student from Boston. My academic journey has been shaped by my passion for history. Since childhood, I have been deeply interested in people's experiences throughout the centuries. This fascination is what inspired my academic pursuits. I have always been on top of my class in history courses. I enjoyed diving deep into the different eras and learning about various cultures and events. In addition to excellent grades, my commitment has been recognized through multiple honors and awards. In particular, I have been included on the Dean's List and received accolades for my research papers. My primary academic interest is studying American history and evolution since the nation's founding. I enjoy exploring the social and political forces that have shaped the United States. I am also keenly interested in ancient civilizations and the parallels between them and the contemporary world. Outside the classroom, I actively participate in historical reenactments and volunteer at local museums. Helping preserve and share our collective heritage is one of my primary goals. Such experiences allow me to bring history to life and engage with others who share my passion. I am eager to continue my scholarly pursuits and contribute to our understanding of the past. I believe we can learn many important and exciting lessons by making meaningful connections between history and the present. Are you looking for inspiration to write your autobiography? Here are some thought-provoking autobiography essay topics that will help you reflect on your personal growth, academic journey, and unique experiences. What does every autobiography include? A theme. Essentially, the theme is the main "lesson" from the autobiography—the critical point that all of your life events come together to demonstrate. How do you go about creating a theme? You can do it by: Discussing a string of events or one event in particular (or even just one day in your life) Introducing a role model or an authority figure Talking about your childhood dreams and memories To make the task easier for you, we've put together a list of prompts you can use to signal your theme to the reader. Simply complete these phrases, develop the ideas, and add specific details to your student autobiography examples and ta-da! Your A-level autobiography is ready! Use one of these phrases as the first sentence of your autobiography: I was born in... I was an active (or quiet, knowledge-loving, shy, curious, etc.) child. My childhood dream was... My earliest memory is... I am grateful to my parents (or teachers, friends, etc.) because... My role model was... My lifetime dream is... The most memorable day of my life was... One phrase that I will never forget is... If only one of my dreams could come true, I would wish for... My main belief in life is... I am driven by my desire/passion/wish to... The main lesson that my parents taught me was... The childhood hobby that most shaped my personality is... One event that influenced who I am today is... My motto in life is... My favorite book/movie/author is... When I was growing up, I always dreamed of becoming a... One thing I wish I knew five (or ten, twenty, etc.) years ago is that... My favorite childhood picture is... Feel free to use this example of an autobiography for students and follow the simple steps described above to complete an A-level memoir with ease. This article was developed by the editorial team of Custom-Writing.org, a professional writing service with 3-hour delivery. Why I Want to Be a Teacher Essay: Writing Guide [2025] Some people know which profession to choose from childhood, while others decide much later in life. However, and whenever you come to it, you may have to elaborate on it in your personal statement or cover letter. This is widely known as "Why I Want to Be a Teacher" essay. Friendship Essay: Writing Guide & Topics on Friendship [New] Assigned with an essay about friendship? Congrats! It's one of the best tasks you could get. Digging through your memories and finding strong arguments for this paper can be an enjoyable experience. I bet you will cope with this task effortlessly as we can help you with the assignment. Just... Autobiography Questions: What to Include & 60 Prompts for Students When you are assigned an autobiography to write, tens or even hundreds of questions start buzzing in your head. How do you write autobiography essay parts? What to include? How do you make your autobiography writing flow? Don't worry about all this! Use the following three simple principles and 60... Best Thesis Statement Examples with Expert Comments "Where is your thesis statement?" asks your teacher in a dramatic tone. "Where is my what?" you want to reply, but instead, you quickly point your finger at a random sentence in your paper, saying, "Here it is..." To avoid this sad situation (which is usually followed by a bad... Life Experience Essay: How to Write a Brilliant Paper A life experience essay combines the elements of narration, description, and self-reflection. Such a paper has to focus on a single event that had a significant impact on a person's worldview and values. Writing an essay about life experience prompts students to do the following: You may struggle with such... An Essay about Someone Who Has Made an Impact on Your Life Who has made a significant impact in your life and why? Essay on the topic might be challenging to write. One is usually asked to write such a text as a college admission essay. A topic for this paper can be of your choice or pre-established by the institution. Either... Financial Assistance Essay: 4 Useful Tips to Make It Rock Are you about to start writing a financial assistance essay? Most probably, you are applying for a scholarship that will provide additional funding for your education or that will help you meet some special research objectives. Growing Up Essay: Guide & Examples [2025] What does it mean to grow up? Essays on this topic might be entertaining yet challenging to write. Growing up is usually associated with something new and exciting. It's a period of everything new and unknown. Now, you've been assigned to write a growing up essay. You're not a kid... Murder Essay: Examples, Topics, and Killer Tips [2025] Probably, a murder essay is not a fascinating assignment to complete. Talking about people's deaths or crazy murderers can be depressing. However, all assignments are different, and you are supposed to work on every task hard. So, how are you going to deal with a murder essay? You can make... Nursing Reflective Essay: Example Outline and Guide Are you a nursing student? Then, you will definitely have an assignment to compose a nursing reflective essay. This task might be quite tough and challenging. But don't stress out! Our professionals are willing to assist you. Remembering an Event Essay: Examples and Guidelines [Free] Throughout our life, we meet plenty of people and participate in various events. If some of them are just regular, the other people or occasions play a critical role in our fates. Your life-changing experience might become a perfect ground for creating a remembering essay. Environment vs. Development Essay: Tips & Topics [2025] Environment vs. development is a multifaceted present days' dilemma. On the one hand, environmental problems are increasing year after year. We have more polluted areas on our planet, more polluted rivers, fewer trees that produce oxygen. On the other hand, can we stop development and progress in various fields? Is... Get a plagiarism-free essay An autobiography is the story of a person's life. It is different to a diary, which is usually a personal account of events but as they happen. And it's different to a biography, which is the story of someone's life, but written by somebody else. There are different ways to tell the story of someone's journey through life. Using a traditional story arc, with a clear beginning, middle and ending, can make an autobiography more interesting and engaging. You can start at the beginning, your birth, and describe the journey from there. Or you can start later in your story, at the point when you made an important decision, took part in a memorable event or tried something for the first time. Wherever you choose to start, it's important to describe key places and events, the different things you saw and did. As with any story, pick the events, people and places that will capture the reader's interest and imagination and maybe leave the boring bits out! Don't just list events or anecdotes, piece together a story. Did an event change the way you think about things? Did it offer you new opportunities? What did you learn from your experience? For example, when Roald Dahl wrote his first autobiography, Boy, he chose to focus on his school years. He tells the story of his local sweet shop and his dreams of being an inventor for a chocolate company. No wonder he wrote Charlie and the Chocolate Factory! So, there is the main "lesson" from the autobiography—the critical point that all of your life events come together to demonstrate. How do you go about creating a theme? You can do it by: Discussing a string of events or one event in particular (or even just one day in your life) Introducing a role model or an authority figure Talking about your childhood dreams and memories To make the task easier for you, we've put together a list of prompts you can use to signal your theme to the reader. Simply complete these phrases, develop the ideas, and add specific details to your student autobiography examples and ta-da! Your A-level autobiography is ready! Use one of these phrases as the first sentence of your autobiography: I was born in... I was an active (or quiet, knowledge-loving, shy, curious, etc.) child. My childhood dream was... My earliest memory is... I am grateful to my parents (or teachers, friends, etc.) because... My role model was... My lifetime dream is... The most memorable day of my life was... One phrase that I will never forget is... If only one of my dreams could come true, I would wish for... My main belief in life is... I am driven by my desire/passion/wish to... The main lesson that my parents taught me was... The childhood hobby that most shaped my personality is... One event that influenced who I am today is... My motto in life is... My favorite book/movie/author is... When I was growing up, I always dreamed of becoming a... One thing I wish I knew five (or ten, twenty, etc.) years ago is that... My favorite childhood picture is... Feel free to use this example of an autobiography for students and follow the simple steps described above to complete an A-level memoir with ease. This article was developed by the editorial team of Custom-Writing.org, a professional writing service with 3-hour delivery. Why I Want to Be a Teacher Essay: Writing Guide [2025] Some people know which profession to choose from childhood, while others decide much later in life. However, and whenever you come to it, you may have to elaborate on it in your personal statement or cover letter. This is widely known as "Why I Want to Be a Teacher" essay. Friendship Essay: Writing Guide & Topics on Friendship [New] Assigned with an essay about friendship? Congrats! It's one of the best tasks you could get. Digging through your memories and finding strong arguments for this paper can be an enjoyable experience. I bet you will cope with this task effortlessly as we can help you with the assignment. Just... Autobiography Questions: What to Include & 60 Prompts for Students When you are assigned an autobiography to write, tens or even hundreds of questions start buzzing in your head. How do you write autobiography essay parts? What to include? How do you make your autobiography writing flow? Don't worry about all this! Use the following three simple principles and 60... Best Thesis Statement Examples with Expert Comments "Where is your thesis statement?" asks your teacher in a dramatic tone. "Where is my what?" you want to reply, but instead, you quickly point your finger at a random sentence in your paper, saying, "Here it is..." To avoid this sad situation (which is usually followed by a bad... Life Experience Essay: How to Write a Brilliant Paper A life experience essay combines the elements of narration, description, and self-reflection. Such a paper has to focus on a single event that had a significant impact on a person's worldview and values. Writing an essay about life experience prompts students to do the following: You may struggle with such... An Essay about Someone Who Has Made an Impact on Your Life Who has made a significant impact in your life and why? Essay on the topic might be challenging to write. One is usually asked to write such a text as a college admission essay. A topic for this paper can be of your choice or pre-established by the institution. Either... Financial Assistance Essay: 4 Useful Tips to Make It Rock Are you about to start writing a financial assistance essay? Most probably, you are applying for a scholarship that will provide additional funding for your education or that will help you meet some special research objectives. Growing Up Essay: Guide & Examples [2025] What does it mean to grow up? Essays on this topic might be entertaining yet challenging to write. Growing up is usually associated with something new and exciting. It's a period of everything new and unknown. Now, you've been assigned to write a growing up essay. You're not a kid... Murder Essay: Examples, Topics, and Killer Tips [2025] Probably, a murder essay is not a fascinating assignment to complete. Talking about people's deaths or crazy murderers can be depressing. However, all assignments are different, and you are supposed to work on every task hard. So, how are you going to deal with a murder essay? You can make... Nursing Reflective Essay: Example Outline and Guide Are you a nursing student? Then, you will definitely have an assignment to compose a nursing reflective essay. This task might be quite tough and challenging. But don't stress out! Our professionals are willing to assist you. Remembering an Event Essay: Examples and Guidelines [Free] Throughout our life, we meet plenty of people and participate in various events. If some of them are just regular, the other people or occasions play a critical role in our fates. Your life-changing experience might become a perfect ground for creating a remembering essay. Environment vs. Development Essay: Tips & Topics [2025] Environment vs. development is a multifaceted present days' dilemma. On the one hand, environmental problems are increasing year after year. We have more polluted areas on our planet, more polluted rivers, fewer trees that produce oxygen. On the other hand, can we stop development and progress in various fields? Is... Get a plagiarism-free essay An autobiography is the story of a person's life. It is different to a diary, which is usually a personal account of events but as they happen. And it's different to a biography, which is the story of someone's life, but written by somebody else. There are different ways to tell the story of someone's journey through life. Using a traditional story arc, with a clear beginning, middle and ending, can make an autobiography more interesting and engaging. You can start at the beginning, your birth, and describe the journey from there. Or you can start later in your story, at the point when you made an important decision, took part in a memorable event or tried something for the first time. Wherever you choose to start, it's important to describe key places and events, the different things you saw and did. As with any story, pick the events, people and places that will capture the reader's interest and imagination and maybe leave the boring bits out! Don't just list events or anecdotes, piece together a story. Did an event change the way you think about things? Did it offer you new opportunities? What did you learn from your experience? For example, when Roald Dahl wrote his first autobiography, Boy, he chose to focus on his school years. He tells the story of his local sweet shop and his dreams of being an inventor for a chocolate company. No wonder he wrote Charlie and the Chocolate Factory! So, there is the main "lesson" from the autobiography—the critical point that all of your life events come together to demonstrate. How do you go about creating a theme? You can do it by: Discussing a string of events or one event in particular (or even just one day in your life) Introducing a role model or an authority figure Talking about your childhood dreams and memories To make the task easier for you, we've put together a list of prompts you can use to signal your theme to the reader. Simply complete these phrases, develop the ideas, and add specific details to your student autobiography examples and ta-da! Your A-level autobiography is ready! Use one of these phrases as the first sentence of your autobiography: I was born in... I was an active (or quiet, knowledge-loving, shy, curious, etc.) child. My childhood dream was... My earliest memory is... I am grateful to my parents (or teachers, friends, etc.) because... My role model was... My lifetime dream is... The most memorable day of my life was... One phrase that I will never forget is... If only one of my dreams could come true, I would wish for... My main belief in life is... I am driven by my desire/passion/wish to... The main lesson that my parents taught me was... The childhood hobby that most shaped my personality is... One event that influenced who I am today is... My motto in life is... My favorite book/movie/author is... When I was growing up, I always dreamed of becoming a... One thing I wish I knew five (or ten, twenty, etc.) years ago is that... My favorite childhood picture is... Feel free to use this example of an autobiography for students and follow the simple steps described above to complete an A-level memoir with ease. This article was developed by the editorial team of Custom-Writing.org, a professional writing service with 3-hour delivery. Why I Want to Be a Teacher Essay: Writing Guide [2025] Some people know which profession to choose from childhood, while others decide much later in life. However, and whenever you come to it, you may have to elaborate on it in your personal statement or cover letter. This is widely known as "Why I Want to Be a Teacher" essay. Friendship Essay: Writing Guide & Topics on Friendship [New] Assigned with an essay about friendship? Congrats! It's one of the best tasks you could get. Digging through your memories and finding strong arguments for this paper can be an enjoyable experience. I bet you will cope with this task effortlessly as we can help you with the assignment. Just... Autobiography Questions: What to Include & 60 Prompts for Students When you are assigned an autobiography to write, tens or even hundreds of questions start buzzing in your head. How do you write autobiography essay parts? What to include? How do you make your autobiography writing flow? Don't worry about all this! Use the following three simple principles and 60... Best Thesis Statement Examples with Expert Comments "Where is your thesis statement?" asks your teacher in a dramatic tone. "Where is my what?" you want to reply, but instead, you quickly point your finger at a random sentence in your paper, saying, "Here it is..." To avoid this sad situation (which is usually followed by a bad... Life Experience Essay: How to Write a Brilliant Paper A life experience essay combines the elements of narration, description, and self-reflection. Such a paper has to focus on a single event that had a significant impact on a person's worldview and values. Writing an essay about life experience prompts students to do the following: You may struggle with such... An Essay about Someone Who Has Made an Impact on Your Life Who has made a significant impact in your life and why? Essay on the topic might be challenging to write. One is usually asked to write such a text as a college admission essay. A topic for this paper can be of your choice or pre-established by the institution. Either... Financial Assistance Essay: 4 Useful Tips to Make It Rock Are you about to start writing a financial assistance essay? Most probably, you are applying for a scholarship that will provide additional funding for your education or that will help you meet some special research objectives. Growing Up Essay: Guide & Examples [2025] What does it mean to grow up? Essays on this topic might be entertaining yet challenging to write. Growing up is usually associated with something new and exciting. It's a period of everything new and unknown. Now, you've been assigned to write a growing up essay. You're not a kid... Murder Essay: Examples, Topics, and Killer Tips [2025] Probably, a murder essay is not a fascinating assignment to complete. Talking about people's deaths or crazy murderers can be depressing. However, all assignments are different, and you are supposed to work on every task hard. So, how are you going to deal with a murder essay? You can make... Nursing Reflective Essay: Example Outline and Guide Are you a nursing student? Then, you will definitely have an assignment to compose a nursing reflective essay. This task might be quite tough and challenging. But don't stress out! Our professionals are willing to assist you. Remembering an Event Essay: Examples and Guidelines [Free] Throughout our life, we meet plenty of people and participate in various events. If some of them are just regular, the other people or occasions play a critical role in our fates. Your life-changing experience might become a perfect ground for creating a remembering essay. Environment vs. Development Essay: Tips & Topics [2025] Environment vs. development is a multifaceted present days' dilemma. On the one hand, environmental problems are increasing year after year. We have more polluted areas on our planet, more polluted rivers, fewer trees that produce oxygen. On the other hand, can we stop development and progress in various fields? Is... Get a plagiarism-free essay An autobiography is the story of a person's life. It is different to a diary, which is usually a personal account of events but as they happen. And it's different to a biography, which is the story of someone's life, but written by somebody else. There are different ways to tell the story of someone's journey through life. Using a traditional story arc, with a clear beginning, middle and ending, can make an autobiography more interesting and engaging. You can start at the beginning, your birth, and describe the journey from there. Or you can start later in your story, at the point when you made an important decision, took part in a memorable event or tried something for the first time. Wherever you choose to start, it's important to describe key places and events, the different things you saw and did. As with any story, pick the events, people and places that will capture the reader's interest and imagination and maybe leave the boring bits out! Don't just list events or anecdotes, piece together a story. Did an event change the way you think about things? Did it offer you new opportunities? What did you learn from your experience? For example, when Roald Dahl wrote his first autobiography, Boy, he chose to focus on his school years. He tells the story of his local sweet shop and his dreams of being an inventor for a chocolate company. No wonder he wrote Charlie and the Chocolate Factory! So, there is the main "lesson" from the autobiography—the critical point that all of your life events come together to demonstrate. How do you go about creating a theme? You can do it by: Discussing a string of events or one event in particular (or even just one day in your life) Introducing a role model or an authority figure Talking about your childhood dreams and memories To make the task easier for you, we've put together a list of prompts you can use to signal your theme to the reader. Simply complete these phrases, develop the ideas, and add specific details to your student autobiography examples and ta-da! Your A-level autobiography is ready! Use one of these phrases as the first sentence of your autobiography: I was born in... I was an active (or quiet, knowledge-loving, shy, curious, etc.) child. My childhood dream was... My earliest memory is... I am grateful to my parents (or teachers, friends, etc.) because... My role model was... My lifetime dream is... The most memorable day of my life was... One phrase that I will never forget is... If only one of my dreams could come true, I would wish for... My main belief in life is... I am driven by my desire/passion/wish to... The main lesson that my parents taught me was... The childhood hobby that most shaped my personality is... One event that influenced who I am today is... My motto in life is... My favorite book/movie/author is... When I was growing up, I always dreamed of becoming a... One thing I wish I knew five (or ten, twenty, etc.) years ago is that... My favorite childhood picture is... Feel free to use this example of an autobiography for students and follow the simple steps described above to complete an A-level memoir with ease. This article was developed by the editorial team of Custom-Writing.org, a professional writing service with 3-hour delivery. Why I Want to Be a Teacher Essay: Writing Guide [2025] Some people know which profession to choose from childhood, while others decide much later in life. However, and whenever you come to it, you may have to elaborate on it in your personal statement or cover letter. This is widely known as "Why I Want to Be a Teacher" essay. Friendship Essay: Writing Guide & Topics on Friendship [New] Assigned with an essay about friendship? Congrats! It's one of the best tasks you could get. Digging through your memories and finding strong arguments for this paper can be an enjoyable experience. I bet you will cope with this task effortlessly as we can help you with the assignment. Just... Autobiography Questions: What to Include & 60 Prompts for Students When you are assigned an autobiography to write, tens or even hundreds of questions start buzzing in your head. How do you write autobiography essay parts? What to include? How do you make your autobiography writing flow? Don't worry about all this! Use the following three simple principles and 60... Best Thesis Statement Examples with Expert Comments "Where is your thesis statement?" asks your teacher in a dramatic tone. "Where is my what?" you want to reply, but instead, you quickly point your finger at a random sentence in your paper, saying, "Here it is..." To avoid this sad situation (which is usually followed by a bad... Life Experience Essay: How to Write a Brilliant Paper A life experience essay combines the elements of narration, description, and self-reflection. Such a paper has to focus on a single event that had a significant impact on a person's worldview and values. Writing an essay about life experience prompts students to do the following: You may struggle with such... An Essay about Someone Who Has Made an Impact on Your Life Who has made a significant impact in your life and why? Essay on the topic might be challenging to write. One is usually asked to write such a text as a college admission essay. A topic for this paper can be of your choice or pre-established by the institution. Either... Financial Assistance Essay: 4 Useful Tips to Make It Rock Are you about to start writing a financial assistance essay? Most probably, you are applying for a scholarship that will provide additional funding for your education or that will help you meet some special research objectives. Growing Up Essay: Guide & Examples [2025] What does it mean to grow up? Essays on this topic might be entertaining yet challenging to write. Growing up is usually associated with something new and exciting. It's a period of everything new and unknown. Now, you've been assigned to write a growing up essay. You're not a kid... Murder Essay: Examples, Topics, and Killer Tips [2025] Probably, a murder essay is not a fascinating assignment to complete. Talking about people's deaths or crazy murderers can be depressing. However, all assignments are different, and you are supposed to work on every task hard. So, how are you going to deal with a murder essay? You can make... Nursing Reflective Essay: Example Outline and Guide Are you a nursing student? Then, you will definitely have an assignment to compose a nursing reflective essay. This task might be quite tough and challenging. But don't stress out! Our professionals are willing to assist you. Remembering an Event Essay: Examples and Guidelines [Free] Throughout our life, we meet plenty of people and participate in various events. If some of them are just regular, the other people or occasions play a critical role in our fates. Your life-changing experience might become a perfect ground for creating a remembering essay. Environment vs. Development Essay: Tips & Topics [2025] Environment vs. development is a multifaceted present days' dilemma. On the one hand, environmental problems are increasing year after year. We have more polluted areas on our planet, more polluted rivers, fewer trees that produce oxygen. On the other hand, can we stop development and progress in various fields? Is... Get a plagiarism-free essay An autobiography is the story of a person's life. It is different to a diary, which is usually a personal account of events but as they happen. And it's different to a biography, which is the story of someone's life, but written by somebody else. There are different ways to tell the story of someone's journey through life. Using a traditional story arc, with a clear beginning, middle and ending, can make an autobiography more interesting and engaging. You can start at the beginning, your birth, and describe the journey from there. Or you can start later in your story, at the point when you made an important decision, took part in a memorable event or tried something for the first time. Wherever you choose to start, it's important to describe key places and events, the different things you saw and did. As with any story, pick the events, people and places that will capture the reader's interest and imagination and maybe leave the boring bits out! Don't just list events or anecdotes, piece together a story. Did an event change the way you think about things? Did it offer you new opportunities? What did you learn from your experience? For example, when Roald Dahl wrote his first autobiography, Boy, he chose to focus on his school years. He tells the story of his local sweet shop and his dreams of being an inventor for a chocolate company. No wonder he wrote Charlie and the Chocolate Factory! So, there is the main "lesson" from the autobiography—the critical point that all of your life events come together to demonstrate. How do you go about creating a theme? You can do it by: Discussing a string of events or one event in particular (or even just one day in your life) Introducing a role model or an authority figure Talking about your childhood dreams and memories To make the task easier for you, we've put together a list of prompts you can use to signal your theme to the reader. Simply complete these phrases, develop the ideas, and add specific details to your student autobiography examples and ta-da! Your A-level autobiography is ready! Use one of these phrases as the first sentence of your autobiography: I was born in... I was an active (or quiet, knowledge-loving, shy, curious, etc.) child. My childhood dream was... My earliest memory is... I am grateful to my parents (or teachers, friends, etc.) because... My role model was... My lifetime dream is... The most memorable day of my life was... One phrase that I will never forget is... If only one of my dreams could come true, I would wish for... My main belief in life is... I am driven by my desire/passion/wish to... The main lesson that my parents taught me was... The childhood hobby that most shaped my personality is... One event that influenced who I am today is... My motto in life is... My favorite book/movie/author is... When I was growing up, I always dreamed of becoming a... One thing I wish I knew five (or ten, twenty, etc.) years ago is that... My favorite childhood picture is... Feel free to use this example of an autobiography for students and follow the simple steps described above to complete an A-level memoir with ease. This article was developed by the editorial team of Custom-Writing.org, a professional writing service with 3-hour delivery. Why I Want to Be a Teacher Essay: Writing Guide [2025] Some people know which profession to choose from childhood, while others decide much later in life. However, and whenever you come to it, you may have to elaborate on it in your personal statement or cover letter. This is widely known as "Why I Want to Be a Teacher" essay. Friendship Essay: Writing Guide & Topics on Friendship [New] Assigned with an essay about friendship? Congrats! It's one of the best tasks you could get. Digging through your memories and finding strong arguments for this paper can be an enjoyable experience. I bet you will cope with this task effortlessly as we can help you with the assignment. Just... Autobiography Questions: What to Include & 60 Prompts for Students When you are assigned an autobiography to write, tens or even hundreds of questions start buzzing in your head. How do you write autobiography essay parts? What to include? How do you make your autobiography writing flow? Don't worry about all this! Use the following three simple principles and 60... Best Thesis Statement Examples with Expert Comments "Where is your thesis statement?" asks your teacher in a dramatic tone. "Where is my what?" you want to reply, but instead, you quickly point your finger at a random sentence in your paper, saying, "Here it is..." To avoid this sad situation (which is usually followed by a bad... Life Experience Essay: How to Write a Brilliant Paper A life experience essay combines the elements of narration, description, and self-reflection. Such a paper has to focus on a single event that had a significant impact on a person's worldview and values. Writing an essay about life experience prompts students to do the following: You may struggle with such... An Essay about Someone Who Has Made an Impact on Your Life Who has made a significant impact in your life and why? Essay on the topic might be challenging to write. One is usually asked to write such a text as a college admission essay. A topic for this paper can be of your choice or pre-established by the institution. Either... Financial Assistance Essay: 4 Useful Tips to Make It Rock Are you about to start writing a financial assistance essay? Most probably, you are applying for a scholarship that will provide additional funding for your education or that will help you meet some special research objectives. Growing Up Essay: Guide & Examples [2025] What does it mean to grow up? Essays on this topic might be entertaining yet challenging to write. Growing up is usually associated with something new and exciting. It's a period of everything new and unknown. Now, you've been assigned to write a growing up essay. You're not a kid... Murder Essay: Examples, Topics, and Killer Tips [2025] Probably, a murder essay is not a fascinating assignment to complete. Talking about people's deaths or crazy murderers can be depressing. However, all assignments are different, and you are supposed to work on every task hard. So, how are you going to deal with a murder essay? You can make... Nursing Reflective Essay: Example Outline and Guide Are you a nursing student? Then, you will definitely have an assignment to compose a nursing reflective essay. This task might be quite tough and challenging. But don't stress out! Our professionals are willing to assist you. Remembering an Event Essay: Examples and Guidelines [Free] Throughout our life, we meet plenty of people and participate in various events. If some of them are just regular, the other people or occasions play a critical role in our fates. Your life-changing experience might become a perfect ground for creating a remembering essay. Environment vs. Development Essay: Tips & Topics [2025] Environment vs. development is a multifaceted present days' dilemma. On the one hand, environmental problems are increasing year after year. We have more polluted areas on our planet, more polluted rivers, fewer trees that produce oxygen. On the other hand, can we stop development and progress in various fields? Is... Get a plagiarism-free essay An autobiography is the story of a person's life. It is different to a diary, which is usually a personal account of events but as they happen. And it's different to a biography, which is the story of someone's life, but written by somebody else. There are different ways to tell the story of someone's journey through life. Using a traditional story arc, with a clear beginning, middle and ending, can make an autobiography more interesting and engaging. You can start at the beginning, your birth, and describe the journey from there. Or you can start later in your story, at the point when you made an important decision, took part in a memorable event or tried something for the first time. Wherever you choose to start, it's important to describe key places and events, the different things you saw and did. As with any story, pick the events, people and places that will capture the reader's interest and imagination and maybe leave the boring bits out! Don't just list events or anecdotes, piece together a story. Did an event change the way you think about things? Did it offer you new opportunities? What did you learn from your experience? For example, when Roald Dahl wrote his first autobiography, Boy, he chose to focus on his school years. He tells the story of his local sweet shop and his dreams of being an inventor for a chocolate company. No wonder he wrote Charlie and the Chocolate Factory! So, there is the main "lesson" from the autobiography—the critical point that all of your life events come together to demonstrate. How do you go about creating a theme? You can do it by: Discussing a string of events or one event in particular (or even just one day in your life) Introducing a role model or an authority figure Talking about your childhood dreams and memories To make the task easier for you, we've put together a list of prompts you can use to signal your theme to the reader. Simply complete these phrases, develop the ideas, and add specific details to your student autobiography examples and ta-da! Your A-level autobiography is ready! Use one of these phrases as the first sentence of your autobiography: I was born in... I was an active (or quiet, knowledge-loving, shy, curious, etc.) child. My childhood dream was... My earliest memory is... I am grateful to my parents (or teachers, friends, etc.) because... My role model was... My lifetime dream is... The most memorable day of my life was... One phrase that I will never forget is... If only one of my dreams could come true, I would wish for... My main belief in life is... I am driven by my desire/passion/wish to... The main lesson that my parents taught me was... The childhood hobby that most shaped my personality is... One event that influenced who I am today is... My motto in life is... My favorite book/movie/author is... When I was growing up, I always dreamed of becoming a... One thing I wish I knew five (or ten, twenty, etc.) years ago is that... My favorite childhood picture is... Feel free to use this example of an autobiography for students and follow the simple steps described above to complete an A-level memoir with ease. This article was developed by the editorial team of Custom-Writing.org, a professional writing service with 3-hour delivery. Why I Want to Be a Teacher Essay: Writing Guide [2025] Some people know which profession to choose from childhood, while others decide much later in life. However, and whenever you come to it, you may have to elaborate on it in your personal statement or cover letter. This is widely known as "Why I Want to Be a Teacher" essay. Friendship Essay: Writing Guide & Topics on Friendship [New] Assigned with an essay about friendship? Congrats! It's one of the best tasks you could get. Digging through your memories and finding strong arguments for this paper can be an enjoyable experience. I bet you will cope with this task effortlessly as we can help you with the assignment. Just... Autobiography Questions: What to Include & 60 Prompts for Students When you are assigned an autobiography to write, tens or even hundreds of questions start buzzing in your head. How do you write autobiography essay parts? What to include? How do you make your autobiography writing flow? Don't worry about all this! Use the following three simple principles and 60... Best Thesis Statement Examples with Expert Comments "Where is your thesis statement?" asks your teacher in a dramatic tone. "Where is my what?" you want to reply, but instead, you quickly point your finger at a random sentence in your paper, saying, "Here it is..." To avoid this sad situation (which is usually followed by a bad... Life Experience Essay: How to Write a Brilliant Paper A life experience essay combines the elements of narration, description, and self-reflection. Such a paper has to focus on a single event that had a significant impact on a person's worldview and values. Writing an essay about life experience prompts students to do the following: You may struggle with such... An Essay about Someone Who Has Made an Impact on Your Life Who has made a significant impact in your life and why? Essay on the topic might be challenging to write. One is usually asked to write such a text as a college admission essay. A topic for this paper can be of your choice or pre-established by the institution. Either... Financial Assistance Essay: 4 Useful Tips to Make It Rock Are you about to start writing a financial assistance essay? Most probably, you are applying for a scholarship that will provide additional funding for your education or that will help you meet some special research objectives. Growing Up Essay: Guide & Examples [2025] What does it mean to grow up? Essays on this topic might be entertaining yet challenging to write. Growing up is usually associated with something new and exciting. It's a period of everything new and unknown. Now, you've been assigned to write a growing up essay. You're not a kid... Murder Essay: Examples, Topics, and Killer Tips [2025] Probably, a murder essay is not a fascinating assignment to complete. Talking about people's deaths or crazy murderers can be depressing. However, all assignments are different, and you are supposed to work on every task hard. So, how are you going to deal with a murder essay? You can make... Nursing Reflective Essay: Example Outline and Guide Are you a nursing student? Then, you will definitely have an assignment to compose a nursing reflective essay. This task might be quite tough and challenging. But don't stress out! Our professionals are willing to assist you. Remembering an Event Essay: Examples and Guidelines [Free] Throughout our life, we meet plenty of people and participate in various events. If some of them are just regular, the other people or occasions play a critical role in our fates. Your life-changing experience might become a perfect ground for creating a remembering essay. Environment vs. Development Essay: Tips & Topics [2025] Environment vs. development is a multifaceted present days' dilemma. On the one hand, environmental problems are increasing year after year. We have more polluted areas on our planet, more polluted rivers, fewer trees that produce oxygen. On the other hand, can we stop development and progress in various fields? Is... Get a plagiarism-free essay An autobiography is the story of a person's life. It is different to a diary, which is usually a personal account of events but as they happen. And it's different to a biography, which is the story of someone's life, but written by somebody else. There are different ways to tell the story of someone's journey through life. Using a traditional story arc, with a clear beginning, middle and ending, can make an autobiography more interesting and engaging. You can start at the beginning, your birth, and describe the journey from there. Or you can start later in your story, at the point when you made an important decision, took part in a memorable event or tried something for the first time. Wherever you choose to start, it's important to describe key places and events, the different things you saw and did. As with any story, pick the events, people and places that will capture the reader's interest and imagination and maybe leave the boring bits out! Don't just list events or anecdotes, piece together a story. Did an event change the way you think about things? Did it offer you new opportunities? What did you learn from your experience? For example, when Roald Dahl wrote his first autobiography, Boy, he chose to focus on his school years. He tells the story of his local sweet shop and his dreams of being an inventor for a chocolate company. No wonder he wrote Charlie and the Chocolate Factory! So, there is the main "lesson" from the autobiography—the critical point that all of your life events come together to demonstrate. How do you go about creating a theme? You can do it by: Discussing a string of events or one event in particular (or even just one day in your life) Introducing a role model or an authority figure Talking about your childhood dreams and memories To make the task easier for you, we've put together a list of prompts you can use to signal your theme to the reader. Simply complete these phrases, develop the ideas, and add specific details to your student autobiography examples and ta-da! Your A-level autobiography is ready! Use one of these phrases as the first sentence of your autobiography: I was born in... I was an active (or quiet, knowledge-loving, shy, curious, etc.) child. My childhood dream was... My earliest memory is... I am grateful to my parents (or teachers, friends, etc.) because... My role model was... My lifetime dream is... The most memorable day of my life was... One phrase that I will never forget is... If only one of my dreams could come true, I would wish for... My main belief in life is... I am driven by my desire/passion/wish to... The main lesson that my parents taught me was... The childhood hobby that most shaped my personality is... One event that influenced who I am today is... My motto in life is... My favorite book/movie/author is... When I was growing up, I always dreamed of becoming a... One thing I wish I knew five (or ten, twenty, etc.) years ago is that... My favorite childhood picture is... Feel free to use this example of an autobiography for students and follow the simple steps described above to complete an A-level memoir with ease. This article was developed by the editorial team of Custom-Writing.org, a professional writing service with 3-hour delivery. Why I Want to Be a Teacher Essay: Writing Guide [2025] Some people know which profession to choose from childhood, while others decide much later in life. However, and whenever you come to it, you may have to elaborate on it in your personal statement or cover letter. This is widely known as "Why I Want to Be a Teacher" essay. Friendship Essay: Writing Guide & Topics on Friendship [New] Assigned with an essay about friendship? Congrats! It's one of the best tasks you could get. Digging through your memories and finding strong arguments for this paper can be an enjoyable experience. I bet you will cope with this task effortlessly as we can help you with the assignment. Just... Autobiography Questions: What to Include & 60 Prompts for Students When you are assigned an autobiography to write, tens or even hundreds of questions start buzzing in your head. How do you write autobiography essay parts? What to include? How do you make your autobiography writing flow? Don't worry about all this! Use the following three simple principles and 60... Best Thesis Statement Examples with Expert Comments "Where is your thesis statement?" asks your teacher in a dramatic tone. "Where is my what?" you want to reply, but instead, you quickly point your finger at a random sentence in your paper, saying, "Here it is..." To avoid this sad situation (which is usually followed by a bad... Life Experience Essay: How to Write a Brilliant Paper A life experience essay combines the elements of narration, description, and self-reflection. Such a paper has to focus on a single event that had a significant impact on a person's worldview and values. Writing an essay about life experience prompts students to do the following: You may struggle with such... An Essay about Someone Who Has Made an Impact on Your Life Who has made a significant impact in your life and why? Essay on the topic might be challenging to write. One is usually asked to write such a text as a college admission essay. A topic for this paper can be of your choice or pre-established by the institution. Either... Financial Assistance Essay: 4 Useful Tips to Make It Rock Are you about to start writing a financial assistance essay? Most probably, you are applying for a scholarship that will provide additional funding for your education or that will help you meet some special research objectives. Growing Up Essay: Guide & Examples [2025] What does it mean to grow up? Essays on this topic might be entertaining yet challenging to write. Growing up is usually associated with something new and exciting. It's a period of everything new and unknown. Now, you've been assigned to write a growing up essay. You're not a kid... Murder Essay: Examples, Topics, and Killer Tips [2025] Probably, a murder essay is not a fascinating assignment to complete. Talking about people's deaths or crazy murderers can be depressing. However, all assignments are different, and you are supposed to work on every task hard. So, how are you going to deal with a murder essay? You can make... Nursing Reflective Essay: Example Outline and Guide Are you a nursing student? Then, you will definitely have an assignment to compose a nursing reflective essay. This task might be quite tough and challenging. But don't stress out! Our professionals are willing to assist you. Remembering an Event Essay: Examples and Guidelines [Free] Throughout our life, we meet plenty of people and participate in various events. If some of them are just regular, the other people or occasions play a critical role in our fates. Your life-changing experience might become a perfect ground for creating a remembering essay. Environment vs. Development Essay: Tips & Topics [2025] Environment vs. development is a multifaceted present days' dilemma. On the one hand, environmental problems are increasing year after year. We have more polluted areas on our planet, more polluted rivers, fewer trees that produce oxygen. On the other hand, can we stop development and progress in various fields? Is... Get a plagiarism-free essay An autobiography is the story of a person's life. It is different to a diary, which is usually a personal account of events but as they happen. And it's different to a biography, which is the story of someone's life, but written by somebody else. There are different ways to tell the story of someone's journey through life. Using a traditional story arc, with a clear beginning, middle and ending, can make an autobiography more interesting and engaging. You can start at the beginning, your birth, and describe the journey from there. Or you can start later in your story, at the point when you made an important decision, took part in a memorable event or tried something for the first time. Wherever you choose to start, it's important to describe key places and events, the different things you saw and did. As with any story, pick the events, people and places that will capture the reader's interest and imagination and maybe leave the boring bits out! Don't just list events or anecdotes, piece together a story. Did an event change the way you think about things? Did it offer you new opportunities? What did you learn from your experience? For example, when Roald Dahl wrote his first autobiography, Boy, he chose to focus on his school