First we have a couple of very basic fingering graphs that show you the saxophone fingerings for the lower and upper registry in the C key. These are ideal for absolute beginners who do not want to be overwhelmed by the entire chart of all fingers. Of course, because the saxophone is a transposition tool, the same finger chart applies if you play soprano, tall, baritone or tenor saxophone. After that we have charts for the other notes. On this page I included only the most common fingerings and a couple of alternative fingerings for the standard range. The fingers here are good for beginners to learn, but there are some alternative fingering. On this page we show only the standard saxophone range (up to F on older instruments and up to F# on many newer) but we also have a finger chart for the extension (high range) For the most alternative fingers see here For the very high fingernails see hereLower RegisterLower Register RegisterLower Register Register the CUpper Register key(The octave key is the immediate over the left thumb) Key to the upper register of the CFirst steps: Basic Recitation Graphs (with all cutting edges and apartments)Here we have all the notes of the lower and upper registers, including cutting edges and apartments (AKA the chromatic scale)In some cases alternative sizes are shown. The first in any case can be considered the "regular" fingering. Customer Reviews, including Product Star Ratings help customers to learn more about the product and decide whether it is the right product for them. To calculate the overall star rating and percentage breakdown by star, we don't use a simple average. Instead, our system considers things like how recent a review is and if the reviewer bought the item on Amazon. It also analyzed reviews to verify trustworthiness.
