Prodeo academy columbia heights

Prodeo Academy - Columbia Heights is a public charter school located in Columbia Heights, MN. The school has a diverse student body of around 197 students in grades PK-8, with a student-to-teacher ratio of 15:1. According to state test scores, about 34% of students are proficient in math and 32% in reading. The academy offers a unique education model that focuses on providing small group and individual attention times for students throughout the week. The staff is known for being truly caring, and the school prioritizes diversity, community building, and family-focused events. Parents have praised the school's rigorous schedule, extended day learning, and strong sense of school community. However, some parents have expressed concerns about the school's business practices, citing that it makes a significant amount of money (around $10-13 million per year) but doesn't allocate enough resources for sports, swimming pools, or field trips. Additionally, some parents have reported feeling lonely and unsupported during their child's attendance at the academy. Prodeo Academy - Columbia Heights has three different academies: Primary (PreK-1), Middle (6-8), and Elementary (2-5). Each academy has its own unique uniform requirements, with the Primary Academy requiring gray polos and navy, black, or khaki bottoms. The school's leadership team includes Principal Jeff Stensrud and Assistant Principal Christian Scott Hills. The academy is located at 4141 University Avenue NE in Columbia Heights, MN, and can be reached by phone at (763) 205-9950.
