Long before the actual beginning of Lent, the church announces its approach and invites us to enter into the period of pre-lenten preparation. We have officially entered into Lent! At the end of the service, we hear the prayer of St. Ephrem is prayed, and the faithful approach the priest and one another asking for mutual forgiveness. The younger son asks his father for his share of the inheritance and takes it. This is also a wonderful time to ask for forgiveness for those we have conflict with. This will look differently depending on the ages of your children and your ability, but let's especially remember our Christian duty to love today!Printable Coloring/Story Book about the Last Judgement by Presvytera and Missionary Alexandria Ritsi - This free resources includes the instructions on how to fold/create a little book for kids that can be folded into a tiny booklet, colored, and explains more about the parable to kids in a way that is age appropriate. It is to remind us that we must turn and run back to God, just like the Prodigal Son did. As lent begins this year, let's try to remember the ways that we have gone away from God this year. We want to copy him in the way he cried out to God for help and mercy. Our sin has deprived us of that blessed life and existence on earth is in exile. The better man is not the man who cared for the Temple (the Pharisee), but the better man is the tax collector, the Publican. If you find yourself in a very busy season, don't feel stressed to "do it all!" Attending services and praying with your kids is more than sufficient to connect them with the life of the church. When we come to God, we want to be like the Publican. Christ, the Savior of the world, opens the doors to paradise to everyone who follows Him, and the Church, by revealing to us the beauty of the Kingdom, makes our life a pilgrimage toward our heavenly home. The Pharisee said, "Thank you, God, that I am not like that Publican. At some point he comes to his senses. It lasts for 70 days, or 10 weeks. Then we think about the Father in this story and how good and generous he was. He realizes what he lost at his father's house, his pitiful situation and cries in repentance. Let's start with the Publican. Thus, long before the actual effort of Lent is about to begin, the Church calls our attention to its seriousness and invites us to meditate on its significance. Knowing our lack of concentration and the frightening "wordiness" of our life, the Church knows our inability to change rapidly, to go abruptly from one spiritual or mental state into another. Help me to return to You when I have gone away. The Pharisee sounds like a better man than the Publican, doesn't he? Before we can practice Lent, we are given its meaning. Final ThoughtsThe Lenten season is very full, and the same is true for the pre-lenten weeks. It is hands-on, Orthodox-focused, interactive, and helps children better remember the story and meaning of these two parables of the Tridion period. This Tridion set includes both the story of the Publican and the Pharisee and the Prodigal Son. Are you looking for a way to keep your family engaged in the spiritual nourishment Lent has to offer? How do we come back to God when we have gone away from Him? This preparation includes 4 consecutive Sundays preceding Lent, each of them, through its particular Gospel lesson - dedicated to some fundamental aspect of repentance. This unique service, so deep and beautiful, reveals better the "tonality" of Great Lent in the Orthodox Church. Good strength, dear friends! Khouria Destinie February 27, 2021 /Destinie Winn Orthodoxy, Resources for Families, Feast Day, Motherhood The Pharisee was very different sort of man. He was like a man who took care of the Temple. O Lord and Master of my life, take from me the spirit of sloth, despair, lust of power, and idle talk. But give rather the spirit of chastity, humility, patience, and love to Thy servant. Yea, O Lord and King, grant me to see my own transgressions, and not to judge my brother, for blessed art Thou, unto ages of ages. By now we know we were created for paradise, for knowledge of God and communion with Him. It is also referred to as Meatfare because during the week following it a limited fasting from meat is prescribed by the Church. God is always like this Father in the story: always loving, always waiting for us, always ready to give a great feast when we come back to Him. When time permits, I try to pull one resource like a coloring page, fabric set we've purchased, read the story, etc. One simple one to practice with your children is "Will you forgive me?" and we reply "I forgive you" and we embrace one another. Tending the Garden of Our Hearts offers family devotions based on the scriptures for each day of Great Lent, including questions to discuss and ponder and an appendix full of hands-on activities to bring the lessons of the season to life. All these things are ways we can become like the Prodigal Son. We want our love for Him to be the first thing before our eyes instead of looking at other people and thinking we are better than they are. The last of the Lenten preparation is usually called "Forgiveness Sunday" but it is also known liturgically as the "expulsion of Paradise" referencing the story of Adam and Eve being banished from Paradise because of their sin. Because of the deep psychological insight by the Church into human nature. In our family, we prioritize attending the services as much as we are able. This story can easily summarize the entire preparation for Lent. We are gradually taken into that effort, knowing our frailty, foreseeing our spiritual weakness. You're doing a great job! When he finds himself broke, alone, miserable and in need, he goes to work for a man who raises swine; he is so hungry that he even craves the pig food. It is a characteristic feature of the Orthodox Liturgical tradition that every major feast or season is announced and "prepared" in advance. Why? Not only are these a unique resource, but all of the money raised from this booklet goes toward funding of the Church's Youth Program. We say the prayer, and as we begin we do a full prostration. He throws a big party to celebrate the return of his lost, and now found, son. The Church offers us the chance to "adjust" to the great effort which will be expected of us just a week later. Let's think of some ways that we might go away from God sometimes....
