Alibaba company profile pdf

Alibaba Group, founded in 1999, is the largest Chinese electronic commerce company. Its headquarters is in Hangzhou, Zhejiang province. Grown up in a company that manages a wide range of companies ranging from cloud services and finance to media, as well as e-commerce, the company listed on the New York Stock Exchange last year. Founder Jack Ma, who first used the Internet in the United States in the mid-1990s, created a website in 1999 to support e-commerce. His company had initially focused on commercial transactions before opening the Taobao online shopping site for individual users in 2003. Thanks to the rapid spread of the Internet and the expansion of consumer spending in China, users of Taobao have fastened. Today, Taobao.com for consumer-consumer offers and Tmall for business-consumer are two pillars of Alibaba's operations. The number of annual active buyers on Alibaba sites has reached 350 million. More and more often, more online shoppers move to smartphones. Alibaba is pushing ahead with efforts to attract smartphone users mainly by improving the convenience of online payment system Alipay. As a result, mobile monthly active users of its sites have reached almost 300 million numbers. The company intends to strengthen its financial business with Alipay in the centre, as well as boosting cloud, information technology and large data companies. The company collected about $20 billion through its initial public offer in New York in 2014.is acquiring other companies with the money collected. In August of this year, Alibaba bought most of the new shares issued by the second largest Chinese retailer, Suning Commerce Group, for 28.3 billion yuan, becoming Suning's second largest shareholder. In China, Tencent and other local rivals are strengthening strategies to erode Alibaba's domain in e-commerce. After failing to pass university entrance exams twice, Jack Ma once gave up going higher education and worked as a driver. A self-made man, enjoys strong popularity among the Chinese.
